

Provided below is information for the transportation of firearms and ammunition for airline travel.

AS STATED IN JULY 2008

Most airlines have provided a link to the specific web pages for Baggage Allowances, Carry-on Baggage information, Firearms and Ammunition, Restricted Articles and Specialty Items of which can include but is not limited to antlers, game meats and fishing equipment.

The TSA website is truly the end all be all for airline travel regulations. Canadian and European transportation agencies have essentially the same regulations and generally defer some of their information to the TSA. Before starting any research for your flight it is imperative that you thoroughly look at the TSA website because they have the broadest amount of information and they are the supreme authority.

When traveling internationally, here are three issues by most if not all of the airline carriers:

- 1) The airlines have stated that their policy for transporting firearms is the same for both domestic and international flights.
- 2) They advise that you call the airline desk at your departure airport to inform them that you are flying with a firearm and to get the most up-to-date information on procedures at that airport.
- 3) If you are transferring from one airline to another, it is imperative for you to call the second airline to check if they have any additional regulations, especially if your transfer is in an international airport. There may be additional permits or procedures to be processed prior to your arrival.
- 4) Certain temporary visitor permits are required if you are planning on staying overnight in an international location that is not your final destination. Contact your airline provider to discuss arrangements for your firearm.

General overview of regulations

Firearms can be included as your free baggage allowance if they meet the required criteria:

1. Declared at the ticket check-in counter
 - a. Precludes one from using curbside check-in, E-check-in, Automated, pre and phone check-in
 - b. Declaration must be done at the ticket counter
2. Firearm must be unloaded
3. Must be in a hard sided case
4. Container must be lockable with either a key lock or a combination lock
 - a. Do not have container locked when declaring
 - b. TSA agent will need to open and verify the firearm is unloaded
 - c. All→ALL locks must work properly
 - d. Good idea to bring duct tape to further secure any questionable locks

5. Must provide key or combination to screener to open container and you must remain present during the screening process
6. Ammunition must be securely packed in ammo specific packaging
7. Ammunition may be located in the same hard-sided case as the firearms, but it must remain in its ammo specific packaging
8. Black powder, loose gunpowder and firing caps are prohibited as both carry-on and checked baggage
9. As a rule airlines will allow for 5kg of ammunition to be transported on the plane, 5kg is approximately 10.5 to 11 pounds.

Archery Equipment:

Prohibited from being a carry on item

1 Bow and 25 Arrows tends to be the rule for air-carriers

Must be securely wrapped and packaged to that they do not cause damage to personnel or luggage

Angling and fishing equipment:

Angling and fishing equipment is allowed as part of your checked luggage provided that it is properly packaged and any sharp hooks are secured. The container cannot exceed any normal luggage dimensions or else a handling charge will be added on. Typically $150.00. Some airlines will permit one to bring fragile rods provided they are broken down and in a case. Most also suggest that if reels are fragile then they should be carried as part of your carry-on baggage.

Hunting Equipment

Firearms and Ammunition - Firearms, ammunition and firearm parts may only be transported in checked baggage. Firearms, ammunition and firearm parts are prohibited from carry-on baggage.

There are certain limited exceptions for law enforcement officers (LEOs) who are authorized to fly armed by meeting the requirements of 49 CFR § 1544.219.

Following is a summary of key regulatory requirements to transport firearms, firearm parts or ammunition in checked baggage:

- All firearms must be declared to the air carrier during the ticket counter check-in process.
- The firearm must be unloaded.
- The firearm must be carried in a hard-sided container.
- The container must be locked.

- The passenger must provide the key or combination to the screener if it is necessary to open the container, and then remain present during screening to take back possession of the key after the container is cleared.
- Any ammunition transported must be securely packed in fiber (such as cardboard), wood or metal boxes or other packaging specifically designed to carry small amounts of ammunition.
- Firearm magazines/clips do not satisfy the packaging requirement unless they provide a complete and secure enclosure of the ammunition (e.g., by securely covering the exposed portions of the magazine or by securely placing the magazine in a pouch, holder, holster or lanyard).
- The ammunition may also be located in the same hard-sided case as the firearm, as long as it is properly packed as described above.
- Black powder and percussion caps used with black-powder type firearms are not permitted in carry-on or checked baggage.

The regulations are strictly enforced. Violations can result in criminal prosecution and the imposition of civil penalties of up to $10,000 per violation.

Air carriers may have their own additional requirements on the carriage of firearms and the amount of ammunition an individual may place in checked baggage. Therefore, travelers should also contact the air carrier regarding its firearm and ammunition carriage policies.

If you are traveling with a gun or ammunition, please read our information on traveling with these items for more information.

Bow and Arrows - Bows and arrows are prohibited from carry-on luggage. These items should be packed in checked luggage. Any sharp objects packed in checked luggage should be sheathed or securely wrapped to prevent injury to baggage handlers and security screeners.

Hunting Knives and Tools – Hunting knives and certain tools are prohibited from carry-on luggage. These items should be packed in checked luggage. Any sharp objects packed in checked luggage should be sheathed or securely wrapped to prevent injury to baggage handlers and security screeners.

Fishing Equipment

Fishing Rods / Poles - Fishing Rods are permitted as carry-on and checked baggage. However, please check with your air carrier to confirm that it fits within their size limitations for carry-on items. Ultimately, it is the carrier's decision as to whether or not it can be transported as carry-on baggage.

Spear Guns - Spear guns are prohibited from carry-on luggage. These items should be packed in checked luggage. Any sharp objects packed in checked luggage should be sheathed or securely wrapped to prevent injury to baggage handlers and security screeners.

Tackle Equipment - Fishing equipment should be placed in your checked baggage. Some tackle equipment can be considered sharp and dangerous. Expensive reels or fragile tackle such as fly's should be packed in your carry-on baggage.

Firearms and Ammunition

http://www.tsa.gov/travelers/airtravel/assistant/editorial_1666.shtm

There are certain limited exceptions for law enforcement officers who may fly armed by meeting the requirements of Title 49 CFR § 1544.219. Law enforcement officers should read our policies on traveling with guns.

The key regulatory requirements to transporting firearms, firearm parts or ammunition in checked baggage are:

- You must declare all firearms to the airline during the ticket counter check-in process.
- The firearm must be unloaded.
- The firearm must be in a hard-sided container.
- The container must be locked.
- We recommend that you provide the key or combination to the security officer if he or she needs to open the container. You should remain present during screening to take the key back after the container is cleared. If you are not present and the security officer must open the container, we or the airline will make a reasonable attempt to contact you. If we can't contact you, the container will not be placed on the plane. Federal regulations prohibit unlocked gun cases (or cases with broken locks) on aircraft.
- You must securely pack any ammunition in fiber (such as cardboard), wood or metal boxes or other packaging that is specifically designed to carry small amounts of ammunition.
- You can't use firearm magazines/clips for packing ammunition unless they completely and securely enclose the ammunition (e.g., by securely covering the exposed portions of the magazine or by securely placing the magazine in a pouch, holder, holster or lanyard).
- You may carry the ammunition in the same hard-sided case as the firearm, as long as you pack it as described above.
- You can't bring black powder or percussion caps used with black-powder type firearms in either your carry-on or checked baggage.

Firearms

The term "firearm" describes any weapon that will or is designed to or may be readily converted to expel a projectile by the action of an explosive, or the frame or receiver of any such weapon. This includes:

- Sporting rifles, shotguns, and handguns
- Handguns of authorized law enforcement officers while traveling on official duty
- Starter pistols, compressed air or BB guns, and flare pistols
- Antique firearms

Handguns must be unloaded and packed in a hard-sided locked case or in a hard-sided container inside a soft-sided case, one of which is locked with a key or lock combination only in the traveler's possession.

Rifles, shotguns, and other firearms must be unloaded and carried in a locked hard-sided container where only the customer retains the key. We also recommend that the bolt be removed and the slide locked open. All parts of the firearm must be packed in the same container as the firearm itself.

Alaska Airlines does not allow customers under age 18 to carry on or check a firearm.

International Transport

Canada - Handguns cannot be transported to or through Canada. Non-restricted hunting rifles or competition firearms do not require specialized documentation. Please call 800-731-4000 for additional information on firearms to or from Canada. A U.S. Customs declaration issued before departing the U.S. is required before bringing your firearms back to the United States. We cannot accept rifles, shotguns and other firearms between the United States and Canada without the required documentation.

Mexico - Handguns cannot be transported to or through Mexico. Before any firearm can be accepted for travel to Mexico, a consulate issued permit is required. We cannot accept rifles or shotguns and other firearms between the United States and Mexico without the required documentation.

Firearm Declaration

Identify all bags containing firearms when you check in. Firearms must be unloaded. You will be asked to read and sign a special tag for each bag/container holding a firearm(s). This serves as your declaration that each weapon is unloaded and both weapons and ammunition are properly packaged. It is your responsibility to obtain all the necessary permits for any firearm checked between the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

Liquids Allowance for Carry-on Baggage

http://www.delta.com/traveling_checkin/airport_information/security_checkpoints/index.jsp#liquids

Liquids and Containers

Taking a few minutes to prepare may help to prevent some real hassles at security or even the frustration of having some personal property confiscated. Most countries now prohibit or strictly limit the size of containers with liquids, gels, aerosols, and pastes that you can take in your carry-on luggage. Empty containers that could contain liquids are usually prohibited as well.

Examples of liquids and gels included in these security measures are:

Beverages, Creams, Hair gel, Hair spray, Shampoo, Suntan lotion, Toothpaste and other items of similar consistency

You'll go smoothly through the security checkpoints in most countries if you follow these guidelines for your carry-on baggage.

- Do not pack or carry any empty containers.
- Limit all liquids, gels, aerosols, and pastes to a maximum container size of 3.4 oz/100ml.
- Place all such items in a quart-size, clear plastic, zip-top bag.
- Remove your quart-size bag from your carry-on and place in the provided bin as you approach the checkpoint.

In some airports it is possible to purchase these type of items and take them on board the aircraft once you've cleared security. However, if your continuing travel takes you through additional checkpoints where they're prohibited, they could be confiscated.

Special provisions are usually made for necessary items such as medications and baby formula.

For specific guidelines, visit the additional resources below for links to the appropriate government agency.

Transporting Firearms and Ammunition

http://delta.com/traveling_checkin/baggage/special_baggage/fragile_bulky/sporting_goods/index.jsp

- Lock the firearm(s) in a hard-sided, crush-proof container and retain the key or combination
- Maintain entry permits in your possession for the country or countries of destination or transit

But for ease of memory please follow the 3-1-1 rule.)

Plastic bags must be completely sealed and will be x-rayed at the security checkpoint separately. Carry-on:

Please note that more and more airports are strictly enforcing carry-on baggage regulations, in the interests of your in-flight safety and comfort. SWISS, too, is striving to eliminate problems associated with excessive carry-on baggage for the benefit of all passengers. With limited cabin stowage space available on most aircraft, we strongly advise you to follow the specifications given below.

	Swiss First	Swiss Business	Swiss Economy
Number of pieces	2	2	1
Dimensions per piece	55 x 40 x 20 cm	55 x 40 x 20 cm	55 x 40 x 20 cm
Weight per piece	8kg	8kg	8kg

By doing so, you will avoid the inconvenience of having to repack your baggage when you check in at the airport.

Carry-on baggage must not contain any dangerous goods and it must fit under the seat in front of you or in the overhead bin.

In some exceptional cases we will ask our guests to check-in the carryon baggage, mainly on flights operated with an aircraft of our regional fleet with limited space (e.g. Avro "Jumbolino").

A) Arms for sporting purpose and/or hunting, such as sporting pistols/revolvers and sporting rifles can be accepted as checked baggage only.

The following packing conditions must be met for arms:

- Arms must be unloaded
- Arms must be suitably packed in a strong rigid container designed for such purpose
- Rifle containers can be ordered at Swiss.

Important: It is of the passenger's own responsibility to comply with the custom regulations and various import permit or other documentation needed to enter and/or transit via the respective country.

B) Ammunitions for sporting firearms of small caliber may be accepted as checked baggage only.

- It must be packed in a strong outer container made of wood, metal or fiberboard

CHECKED BAGGAGE

- Checked baggage is left at the check-in desk to be carried by the airline.
- The baggage travels on the same flight as the passenger.
- Officials might need to open your checked baggage after security screening, if they suspect it contains any dangerous materials or articles. A baggage strap around the suitcase prevents it from opening. An insurance is also always recommended to cover any possible damage caused to the baggage during handling.
- A Priority tag is attached to the baggage of Business Class passengers and Finnair Plus Platinum, Gold and Silver members to assure swift delivery at arrival.
- The maximum weight of a single bag on a Finnair flight may not exceed 32 kg or 70 lb. (for example a suitcase shared by two passengers travelling together). Exceptions are only made for special baggage such as sporting equipment, musical instruments, pets and wheelchairs, which have been notified at the time of reservation. See further information about the maximum weight of checked baggage on different routes here below.
- On flights operated by other airlines, the baggage limitations may vary.
- The passenger's identity is checked at the check-in desk and at the gate - both when flying on international and on domestic flights.
